

Bouaphat PHONVISAY with a bachelor's degree on medical sciences, she used to work as Medical Doctor at different health facilities in Lao PDR from 1987-2000. She completed Master Degree of Public Management at Lee Kwan Yew School, National University of Singapore in 2005. She's now working as Deputy Director of National Health Insurance Bureau, Ministry of Health Lao PDR.

Bouaphat has been active in the area of health insurance especially for informal sector since 2000, She was involved in developing and designing of health insurance for informal sector (Community Based Health Insurance) in Lao PDR including policy, strategy and related legislation. She has opportunities to share implementation experience of health insurance scheme at National and international meetings, workshops and conferences. Since 2013, under the new establishment National health Insurance authority, she's in charge on National health insurance development especially the design of appropriate health insurance for informal sector and other related policies including institutional capacities.