Description of the Programme

One of the key features of health research other than clinical research is the large demographic expanse of the research. And therefore, a key skill essential for all health research professionals is that of ensuring quality procurement of information and analysis of the procured data to make informed decisions. In view of the huge quantum of data on which appropriate and accurate analyses is to be performed, manual analyses is a big ask. Thus is the need of computer assisted data analytics using specialized statistical packages. Computer assisted data analysis facilitates easy collation as well expedites the analyses time such that on-time and accurate information is available for decision-makers. Upon participating in the programme, the participants would be able to collate large volumes of data with the help of computers and undertake appropriate statistical analyses using the specialized packages, SPSS and EPI Info.

With this rationale, the programme would aim at:

- Developing better understanding of basic concepts of statistics
- Providing an overview of the computer assisted data analysis and statistical softwares
- Developing requisite skills for bringing in data into SPSS & EPI Info and undertake data transformation
- Enhancing knowledge base and develop skills for selecting appropriate analyses & performing the analyses
- Augmenting knowledge and skills for interpretation of analyses and presentation in user friendly formats
